Step 4:
Formal Proposal Development

As a proposal writer, it is your job to persuade the reviewer that your project is worth funding. Therefore, it is very important for you to communicate your project ideas and plans clearly and completely. A poor presentation can keep a good idea from getting funded. You can increase your chances by:

- Improving your proposal writing skills
- Mastering the various components of a successful proposal